Networks Textbooks

The material for this course is taken primarily from the current literature in computer networks. The following is a list of current networks textbooks that the student might find useful as references for some of the preliminary topics that are prerequisites to this course.

General Networks Texts

Routing Texts

ATM Texts

LAN Texts